

Abundance: 101

Lesson 2 The Law of Compensation and Attraction

Today I will tell you about the Law of Compensation. That means simply (What you reap is what you sow).

To reap abundance in your life first look at what you have sowed. Or should I say given out. If you want to attract money into your life then use it to make God's world a better place. When we give from our hearts God gives back to us. Whatever we give out in our lives comes back to us ten fold.

If we give out positive thoughts and love we get that back. Give out negative thoughts and that's what comes right back at us. You can attract abundance to you by doing good things for yourself, others, and God's world. Feed the birds, donate time to your favorite charity, and give that dollar to the musician playing on the street. Do random acts of kindness for others.

I often pay for a stranger's dinner bill and tell the waitress to tell them an angel picked up the tab. You must do this with an open heart and without expecting anything in return. You will not always get the same thing back as you gave out. But the universe will bring it back to you.

For instance you might pay for a stranger's dinner and then get a phone call from your child you had not seen in a year. The reverse is also true. You could have been short tempered with the love of your life before he or she went off to work, and then have someone cut you off on the express way.

This law is always in effect for all of us. None of us can avoid it. So to reap the abundant blessings you deserve in your life think and do only good to yourself and others. I know you can do it.
